The fact that the day was Memorial Day as well as one of the most important in the church calendar, the feast of Corpus Christi, was commented upon in his sermon by Mgr. Evers, the celebrant. A liberal sprinkling of men in service uniform occupied pews with their families and with the families of other soldiers and sallors "over there."

In the choir loft were members of several opera companies in addition to the regular choir members. They sang Donisetti's Mass, which is practically a military mass. At the conclusion of the service Charles Delmont, basso, sang in English Herbert Johnson's "Pace to Face."

HOOVER DEFENDS USE OF SAUERKRAUT Many German Dishes Are Threatened With Extinction.

Special Despatch to Tun Six Washington, May 30—Patriotic zeal among housewives and a dislike of the Kaiser are revolutionizing American cooking. The Food Administration says so, and in one particular makes a protest. German dishes with German names have fallen into disfavor breatened with extinction. At the top of the list is sauerkraut. Food Commissioner Hoover in a state-ment issued to-day asserts that saver-kraut is a valuable food notwithstanding its name, and that its use should not be curtailed by "overzealous and ill advised patriotism." Sauerkraut is not the only dish of seeming German origin that has disappeared from menu cards and for which Amer can housewives with sons in France are showing a dislike Pickled pigs knuckles, wienerwursts, gefildte fische and sensgurken are already in oblivious
